New elevator code may raise prices by 2-5%: Kone India MD

DEEPAK PATEL & HIMANSHI BHARDWAJ
New Delhi, 27 July

The new lift safety code may lead to a 2–5 per cent price rise, which is minimal and absorbable by customers, Amit Gossain, managing director of Kone Elevator India, said, emphasising that all the states must implement it without delay before the deadline ends in December.

Currently, 15 states and one Union Territory have adopted the lift safety code issued by the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS).

The BIS introduced the new code — IS 17900 Part 1 and Part 2 — in 2022, replacing earlier standards like IS 14665 and IS 15785 and bringing India's elevator safety framework in line with global norms. These norms will come in force from December 22 this year.

The introduction of IS 17900 is seen as a much-needed upgrade to India's elevator safety landscape. It aligns with international standards such as EN 81-20 and EN 81-50, and also introduces clearer provisions for emergency communication systems, overload protection, fire and earthquake resilience, and more rigorous inspection and maintenance protocols.

However, BIS codes are not automatically enforceable across the country. For them to be legally binding, individual states must

“THE PRICE INCREASE IS MINIMAL AND ABSORBABLE BY CUSTOMERS”

Amit Gossain
Managing director,
Kone Elevator India

issue notifications or amend their respective Lift Acts. While early adoption by 15 states and Jammu & Kashmir is a promising development, several key states are yet to make the switch.

“The safety code should be implemented by all the states,” Gossain said in an interview to Business Standard. The anticipated cost increase due to compliance with the new code is relatively low and manageable for customers. “There is a concern... but it would be minimal. The price increase would be between 2–5 per cent on average for the top five established players. The customers can bear this,” he stated.

The top five players — Kone, Otis, Schindler, Johnson Lifts, and TK Elevator — together account for 85 per cent of the elevator and escalator market in India in volume terms. For local or smaller manufacturers who have not been following any standards, the price hike would be considerably higher, Gossain noted.

Finnish company Kone, for its part, has already begun the transition. “We saw a four per cent increase in price due to this upgrade,” he said, referring to one of its products that has already been brought up to the IS 17900 standard and is now being sold in India.

Gossain assured that all Kone products will be upgraded to meet the new code by the end of this year, well ahead of the 2025 deadline. He pointed out that the new code mandates three significant safety features that contribute to the cost increase.

These include unintended car movement protection, which prevents the elevator from moving when doors are open; ascending car overspeed protection, which addresses the risk of the car overspeeding upwards due to control failure; and refuge spaces at the pit and car top for technician safety.

India's elevator and escalator market is one of the fastest-growing globally. In 2024, between 85,000 and 90,000 units were sold, 95 per cent of which were elevators. Among elevators sold, 65 per cent were for the residential segment, 25 per cent for commercial buildings, and 10 per cent for infrastructure, such as airports and metros. In contrast, 95 per cent of escalators were sold for commercial use, with the rest used in infrastructure projects.

Kone currently defines 40 Indian cities — including Nagpur, Guwahati, and Shillong — as Tier-I markets. These Tier-I cities account for about 60 per cent of its sales today, while the remaining 40 per cent comes from Tier-II cities. However, this trend is expected to reverse over the next five years, with Tier-II cities contributing 60 per cent of the company's sales as demand for elevators spreads beyond major cities, he noted. Gossain said the growth outlook for India is very strong, with the market expected to expand in double digits over the next five years.

Hotels seek to check in frequent flyers to boost business

ROSHNI SHEKHAR
Mumbai, 27 July

With Indians constantly on the move, hotel chains are deploying a common strategy: Tap into the growing number of frequent air travellers.

Radisson Hotel Group recently launched Radisson Flights in India, partnering with Etraveli Group, a global flight technology provider. Radisson Flights, an integrated booking platform, will offer a 20 per cent discount on hotel stays with every flight booking. The group is rolling out a similar service in 14 other countries. Sarovar Hotels has tied up with FLY91, a regional carrier, to offer discounts to guests at select places in the country. In April, Accor Hotels and low-cost carrier IndiGo announced they will collaborate for their customer loyalty programmes. Wyndham Hotels and Resorts, which has a partnership with Pegasus Airlines, is exploring ways to provide similar offers to its customers in India.

Such initiatives intend to provide “frictionless travel experiences” to travellers, according to hospitality industry executives. Domestic airlines from January to June 2025 carried 85.174 million passengers, up 7.34 per cent from the previous year (79.348 million), according to the Directorate General of Civil Aviation's monthly report. On a monthly basis, the number was up 3.02 per cent in June.

“India is witnessing an accelerated demand for frictionless travel experiences, and Radisson Flights is our way of meeting that demand and head on,” said

Nikhil Sharma, managing director and chief operating officer, South Asia, Radisson Hotel Group, in a press release. “As a brand that has consistently led with innovation and guest-centricity, we are proud to offer travellers in India the convenience of booking their flights and accommodation under one trusted umbrella. This launch is part of our broader effort to build an integrated ecosystem that meets the evolving needs of the Indian consumer and reinforces our position as a digitally forward hospitality brand.”

Radisson, a global brand that has more than 200 hotels in India, said its “integrated offering” reflects the company's strategy to serve as more than just a stay provider but an enabler of “complete, connected travel experiences”.

Sarovar Hotels' collaboration with FLY91 aims to promote regional tourlines and “create a seamless, value-driven experience for guests”, according to a press release. FLY91 passengers will receive an exclusive 20 per cent discount on room bookings and food and beverages at Sarovar Hotels in Goa, Sindhudurg, Pune, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, and Solapur. Sarovar Hotel guests can get a 10 per cent discount on FLY91 base fares for flights operating in sectors where the airline operates. The offer, which can be redeemed as well, will be accessible on the two companies' websites. “With the rebound of domestic travel and increased interest in short-haul getaways, this partnership allows us to capture demand more effectively by offering guests seamless travel and stay benefits. The initiative aligns with our broader objective of promoting last-mile destinations and strengthening brand presence in Tier-II and -III cities,” said Akshay Thusoo, senior vice-president, commercial, Sarovar Hotels.

Thusoo said the initiative is in its early stages, but the company expects a boost of 5 per cent to 7 per cent at its hotels in select locations over the next two quarters. The locations — Goa, Sindhudurg, Pune, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, and Solapur — were selected based on FLY91's operational network and the hotel company's footprint there. As FLY91 expands its route map, Sarovar Hotels is open to extending the partnership to additional cities, Thusoo said.

“The initiative is expected to drive incremental business from FLY91 passengers, particularly leisure travellers and corporate guests who are increasingly seeking convenient, bundled travel and stay experiences.”

IndiGo BluChip and Accor's loyalty programme are expected to launch their strategic loyalty partnership in Q4 2025 (calendar year), said the hotel company in an email. The partnership is expected to enable customers of both companies to earn and redeem points at hotels and flights in India and abroad. Wyndham Hotels and Resorts said its partnership with Pegasus Airlines has seen strong traction in key international markets.

“In June 2025, we joined hands with Pegasus Airlines to offer Wyndham Rewards members even greater value,” said Rahool Macarius, market managing director (Eurasia), Wyndham Hotels and Resorts.
