Anil Ambani to move NCLAT against RP appointment

NCLT appointed Jitender Kothari to handle State Bank of India-Ambani matter

SUBRATA PANDA
Mumbai, 21 August

HOW IT UNFOLDED

- Anil Ambani had furnished personal guarantee while securing the loan in 2016
- SBI granted loans of ₹1,195 cr to RCom and RITL in August 2016, based on the agreement
- However, both defaulted in January 2017, thereby forcing SBI to declare them non-performing

Anil Ambani is likely to move National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) against the appointment of Jitender Kothari as resolution professional (RP) in the dispute with State Bank of India. He is taking legal advice on the same.

The National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) had appointed Kothari earlier on Friday, to officiate in the matter between SBI and Ambani. The case pertains to the personal guarantee given by Ambani against a loan taken by Reliance Communications (RCom) and Reliance Infratel (RITL).

According to the NCLT order, there is no doubt that the respondent (Anil Ambani) furnished his personal guarantee for the credit facility availed of by RCom and RITL.

Further, when an application is moved under Section 95 of the IBC, the tribunal has no option but to nominate an RP within seven days of the creditor filing such an application.

Ambani's counsel argued that a corporate insolvency resolution process (CIRP) was already in progress for the same firms — wherein lenders had approved of the plan and were only awaiting the tribunal's nod — and that the NCLT could wait till conclusion of the same. However, the argument was not accepted by the bankruptcy tribunal.

A spokesperson for Anil Ambani said: "The NCLT has declined SBI's request for a restriction on Ambani from dealing in or appropriating his assets, to the prejudice of interest of SBI. The NCLT order directing appointment of the RP does not constitute an admission of SBI's insolvency application by the NCLT. The RP will examine SBI's insolvency application against Ambani and submit a report to the NCLT."

Ashish Pyasi, associate partner at Dhir & Dhir Associates, said: "According to the process, the petition is yet to be admitted. The RP now has to go through the application and submit its report in 10 days, stating reasons for acceptance or rejection of the application, which will be considered by the NCLT. In the meantime, he may call for information from both parties."

Ambani had furnished personal guarantee while securing the loan in 2016. SBI granted loans of ₹1,195 crore to RCom and RITL in August 2016, based on the agreement.

However, both defaulted in January 2017, thereby forcing SBI to declare them non-performing.

The state-owned lender moved NCLT in March under Section 95 of IBC, on fears that Ambani has also provided the personal guarantee against loans secured from foreign banks.

These foreign banks — Industrial and Commercial Bank of China, China Development Bank, and Exim Bank of China — have initiated recovery in the UK, and the court has asked Ambani to pay $717 million within a stipulated period of time, failing which the banks could pursue all available options for recovery.

Fearing that the Chinese banks may move to attach Ambani's property and assets, which in turn may dent its own recovery process, SBI moved the bankruptcy tribunal.

Meanwhile, the CIRP of RCom is on rocky turf following the Department of Telecommunications' objection to the resolution plan for RCom and Reliance Telecom.

US court halves fine on TCS in Epic Systems lawsuit to $140 mn

SAI ISHWAR
Mumbai, 21 August

An appeals court in the US has upheld that the punitive damages of $280 million against Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) in a trade secret theft lawsuit, involving medical software company Epic Systems, were 'excessive'. The court halved the damages to $140 million.

In a regulatory filing, the company on Friday said the US Court of Appeals, 7th Circuit, Chicago, returned this verdict on the appeal filed by TCS. "The court held that the punitive damages award of $280 million is constitutionally excessive and directed the trial court to reassess the punitive damages. The court upheld the compensatory damages award of $140 million," a statement said. It added, "TCS is exploring the options available to it, as it believes that there is no evidence of misuse of EPIC information by TCS."

The matter relates to a US grand jury order that slapped two Tata Group companies —

TCS and Tata America International Corp.—with a $940 million fine in a trade secret lawsuit filed against them by the Wisconsin-based health care software firm in 2016.

The tussle dates back to a 2014 lawsuit when Epic alleged that the software firm (TCS) had relocated its employees as consultants at Kaiser Permanente Sunnyside Medical Center in Portland. The employees were tasked to implement Epic's health care software. Epic alleged that these employees downloaded around 6,000 documents and 1,600 unique files containing "detailed information on features and functionalities of its software" by creating a fake ID. This may have been used to benefit the IT firm's own health care software, Med Mantra, it added.

However, the punitive damages were reduced to $420 million from $940 million by a US court in October 2017. In January 2018, TCS said it made a $440 million letter of credit available to Epic Systems.

Honda to ride into mass market, mid-sized motorcycle segment

TE NARASIMHAN
Chennai, 21 August

Honda Motorcycle & Scooter India (HMSI), which was predominantly a scooter maker, is now looking at strengthening its motorcycle offerings. It is coming up with a new mass-market entry-level motorcycle, targeting rural customers largely.

For urban customers, the company is looking at new motorcycles for the mid-sized segment, said its new managing director (MD), president & chief executive officer (CEO) Atsushi Ogata.

HMSI, which produces 6.4 million units in India, is also targeting to become the number one export resource among Honda's plants globally within three years. It is currently in fifth position in Honda's export unit pecking order.

The pandemic has opened up new opportunities for HMSI. "We have taken lots of cost-saving initiatives, which will make HMSI's operations not only more stable but also sustainable for the long-term," said Ogata, who took over in May, but came to India in July.

He is optimistic about India's growth story and feels one of the key drivers for growth will be demand for personal mobility as people stay away from public transportation.

Today, the company is India's largest scooter maker. Of the total sales, scooters contribute around 67 per cent to the company.

Ogata agreed that Honda needed to fill the gaps with new products, especially in the motorcycle segment, to cater HMSI's network is in rural areas, but when it comes to sales, the segment accounts for only 25 per cent.

One of the main reasons is the lack of affordable motorcycles for the rural market. Today, the entry-level motorcycle in Honda is Honda CD 110. However, it doesn't fall under the most affordable motorcycle category, which is now dominated by Hero, TVS and Bajaj.

"Our R&D teams in Japan and India, along with suppliers, are looking at developing a product which will cater to this segment," said Ogata, while declining to give any timeframe for the launch or share other details. The other thrust area is a mid-sized sporty two-wheeler. The new product will be developed in India for the Indian market, he said.

Trai plans show-cause notice against Voda Idea

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 21 August

The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai) is considering issuing a show-cause notice to Vodafone Idea over the priority plan issue, as the telecom regulator is not satisfied with the response given by the company on the matter so far, according to a source.

Airtel — which has stopped onboarding new customers on its platinum offering after an earlier Trai directive — may not be served a show-cause notice.

A regulatory source said that Vodafone Idea has not been able to satisfactorily respond to many of the issues raised by the Trai, including two major concerns on how the company will ensure priority services and speeds to select customers who opt for the premium offering, and how the priority plan will not adversely impact services and experience of non-premium users. The source said that the company, despite several rounds of questioning, has not been able to offer clear and direct answers to the issues raised by the Trai.

The decision on issuing the show cause will be taken in a day or so, and Vodafone Idea will be given a few days to respond to the show-cause notice and explain its position, the source added. The Trai's decision will be based on safeguarding interest of mobile consumers, the source added.

A mail sent to Vodafone Idea on the issue did not elicit a response. The Trai is currently probing Vodafone Idea's priority plan RedX and Bharti Airtel Platinum Offering to see if network preference to specific customers leads to deterioration of services for other non-premium subscribers or violates any norms.
